An attractively designed flashlight that never needs a battery replacement is now available. This new three-color flashlight can be recharged at any time by simply plugging into an electric outlet. In a few minutes, it's ready for use again. Hermetically sealed, the batteries can't leak or corrode.

For grease spots on wall paper, try using a sheet of blotting paper and a warm iron. Care must be taken, however, that the iron is not hot enough to damage the paper.

Having trouble with your steam iron because the minerals in your tap water have accumulated and plugged the outlets? A new home filter may solve your problems. Made of a plastic squeeze bottle and a detachable filter, it can be filled with tap water and then water can be squeezed immediately into the iron. Filters may be replaced when worn out.

When waxing floors, it's best to apply a thin coat since a heavy film cannot be polished to a high, dry finish.

A new fountain roller for painting trim and woodwork will give your painting jobs that professional touch. Fill the plastic squeeze bottle with paint and screw on the roller cap, then roll the bottle along the trim and edges you want painted.

Heavily carved decorations on furniture can be cleansed easily by using a soft bristled brush.

Chair Set in Crochet

PROTECT YOUR CHAIRS at the point of greatest wear, and dress them up at the same time. It is simple to make and has solid crochet edging. The chair back measures about 15 by 20 inches, and each arm piece 10 by 11½ inches. The model was made of J. & P. Women Who Make Cents

Decorated Sunglasses

I buy ordinary women's sunglasses and decorate them, selling to stores (I have them at three places now) and friends. My stock price for them is $1.49. I sell them privately at $1.49 and when a store takes them I set the same retail price, of which the store gets 50 cents and I get 99 cents. My decoration consists of a line of ornamentation glued to the tops. This may be sequins, paillettes, beads, buttons, parakeet feathers, small pieces of big feather clusters, seashells, in short, anything small and brightly colored or sparkling. I obtain these supplies by buying from dime stores, searching lake sands and beaches for shells, and anything donated by friends in the shape of clothing or evening bags or hats which they are going to throw away and from which I can salvage something decorative. I never use anything which is chipped, faded, discolored or tarnished. My favorite form of decoration is to make an outline of tiny bright feathers, as a sort of background, then to outline it with sequins, tiny beads, shells, etc. in harmonizing colors. Great care has to be taken to make a pleasant color scheme. To make an even arrangement, I start at the outer edge of the sunglasses, gluing first one tiny decoration, then a matching one on the matching corner of the opposite side, working in towards the nose piece. I use tweezers to pick up the tiny beads, etc. To ensure the material will stay put, I allow a lot of time for each bead, etc., to dry before applying the next one. This is not such a "pokey" job as it might sound, because by working on about six pairs at one time, the decorative bit put on the first pair is usually dry by the time I have gone through the following five and am ready to start back on number one again.

Dressing Mixes

I make different dressing mixes to suit the taste of the individuals who buy it from me. I buy day-old bread from the bakery (the larger the quantity, the cheaper I get it). Then I place the bread in the oven on a large cooky sheet for about 10 minutes, turning once. I remove from the oven and place a few slices of bread at a time in a large pot and with a wooden spoon I crumble the bread into pieces. I mix each batch separately in a big canning pot, tossing the crumbled toasted bread in a mixture which varies. I always use a little melted margarine to get the spices and herbs to absorb nicely. I use salt and pepper in the preparation so it's ready for use. I place the different orders in paper bags which I buy for this purpose and staple the top of the bag with the customer's name and the type of mix she ordered. I sell this stuffing mix for $1 a pound. I also make bread crumbs (in a food mill) and bread pudding mix (same as for stuffing mix except I use vanilla, banana, almond, or lemon flavoring). The bread crumbs and pudding mix I sell all year, but the stuffing mix is in big demand during the Thanksgiving and Christmas season.

Baby Bibs

Here's an easy way to make money, and it's so simple anyone can do it. Not very long ago, I started making baby bibs from face cloths and soon found that most young mothers consider them the most practical bibs available. Just cut a scoop-shaped piece from one side of a heavy, good quality face cloth. Bind with contrasting or matching bias tape and leave tape about 8 inches from the side to form ties. Be sure to stitch tape. These bibs sell easily.

Jams, Jellies and Preserves

The methods of making jams, jellies and preserves haven't changed much since grandmother's day. Jams and preserves are prepared very much alike. Fruits are mixed with a specific quantity of sugar and cooked to proper consistency. The cooking brings out the pectin of the fruit and makes it thicken. Different fruits contain different amounts of pectin which is often the reason for combining two fruits, one low in pectin and one high in pectin. This gives a more desirable consistency. If you use commercial pectin in making jams, jellies and preserves, follow directions on package. Different pectins vary in strength and the end product will be what you want only if you do as the manufacturer directs.

Three things are necessary to make jelly: (1) juice, (2) pectin, (3) sugar. These three must be the right kind and in the right proportion. Jelly is rather tricky. It must be the right combination of slightly under-ripe and ripe fruit, right amount of sugar, proper straining and it must be cooked to the right point. You can take deserved pride in jelly that is clear, has a sparkling color and holds its shape when unmolded, yet is tender.

Give your grape jam a special flavor by adding an orange, some lemon juice and some seedless raisins.

Grape Jam

7 cups grapes (any kind)
1 medium orange
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup seedless raisins
½ teaspoon salt

Wash, drain, stem and measure grapes. Press to separate pulp from skins. Chop skins and boil 20 minutes in just enough water to prevent sticking. Boil pulp, without water, until soft (if using Tokay or Malaga, cook the whole grape). Press through sieve or food mill. Chop orange (pulp and rind). Mix all ingredients. Boil rapidly, almost to jellying point. Pour, boiling hot, into hot pint or half pint jars. Seal at once.

Sparkling clear jelly is pretty to look at. Add the raspberry flavor, and the jelly is good to taste.

Raspberry Jelly

4 cups juice (about 2½ quarts ripe red raspberries)
5½ cups sugar
1 box (2½ ounces) powdered pectin

Thoroughly crush the berries. Place in jelly cloth or bag, allow to drain. It may be squeezed, but the jelly will not be as clear and sparkling. Measure 4 cups juice into a very large saucepan. Measure sugar and set aside. Add powdered fruit pectin to juice in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once, stir in sugar. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, skim off foam and pour quickly into glasses.

Canning and Freezing Fruits

Canning and freezing fruits can be rewarding in that they satisfy a creative desire as well as help the family economy. The rules are not too complicated but you must follow them or all your efforts may be in vain. Here are some of the rules:

1. Be sure you use jars prepared especially for home canning. Other jars used for commercial canning are thinner; they are made as "one trip" containers.
2. Follow the directions provided by the manufacturer for sealing the containers.

3. Write to manufacturer of jars or to Agricultural Extension Service at your state university or college or to your County Agricultural Extension Office for up-to-date information about fruits available in your area.

4. Use top quality fruits and can or freeze as advised in your directions. Some fruits can much better than they freeze, while others freeze to an advantage.

The proper method of canning is the most important point. The boiling water bath is the most satisfactory method for acid foods. Remember that the water must be in a full boil when the jars of fruit are put into the water.

Apples (Hot Pack)

Select uniform apples, wash, pare and core. Cut into desired size. If peeled fruit is to stand several minutes before precooking, drop it into slightly salted water to prevent discoloration. Drain. Boil three to five minutes, in a medium syrup (1 cup sugar and 2 cups water). Pack into clean jars and fill to within ½-inch of top of jar with syrup. Put on cap, screw band tight. Process in boiling water bath 25 minutes or in pressure cooker at 5 pounds pressure for 10 minutes.

Nectarines (Cold Pack)

Select firm fruit. Wash but do not peel. Nectarines may be canned whole or in halves. For halves, remove stone and if they are to stand several minutes before packing, drop into slightly salted water to prevent discoloration. Drain before packing. Pack whole or halved fruit into clean jars. Fill to within 1½ inches of top of jar with medium syrup. Put on cap, screwing band tight. Process 20 minutes in boiling water bath or in pressure cooker 10 minutes at 5 pounds.

Fruit Salad (Cold Pack)

Any desired combination of fruits may be used. Wash, peel if necessary and cut fruit into desired size. Pack into clean jars. Fill to within 1½ inches of top of jar with medium syrup. Put on cap, screw band tight. Process length of time necessary for fruit requiring longest processing.

Freezing Fruits

In freezing peaches (or any fruit that discolors easily) push the fruit below the syrup with crumpled wax paper.

Cherries

Wash and drain. Pit if desired. For pitted cherries, mix 1 cup sugar to 5 cups fruit. Pack into clean jars or containers. Apply caps or lids. Store in freezer. For whole cherries, pack into clean jars. Cover with heavy syrup containing ¼ teaspoon ascorbic acid to 1 to 1½ cups of syrup. Apply caps. Store in freezer.

Cranberries

Pick over and wash. Pack without sugar or mix 1 cup sugar with 6 to 8 cups berries. Pack into clean jars or containers. Apply caps. Store in freezer.

Plums

Sort, wash, halve and pit. Mix 1 cup sugar with 4½ to 10 cups fruit. Pack into clean jars. Apply caps. Store in freezer.

Cherry Sunshine Preserves

1 quart seeded sour cherries
4 cups sugar
½ cup light corn syrup

Place a cup of cherries in saucepan and cover with a cup of sugar. Alternate the layer of cherries and sugar, mixing thoroughly after each addition. Thoroughly mix in the corn syrup and bring fruit to boiling point. Boil 15 minutes, shaking the pan occasionally. Pour into glass or enamel vessel and let stand 24 hours stirring occasionally. For improved flavor, cover dish with glass and set out in the hot sunshine for a day, stirring once or twice to turn the cherries. Pour into sterilized jars without further heating and seal with paraffin or caps.

Why do the leaves of my phlox turn black and become dry? My lilac bushes have the same difficulty. Mrs. L.K., Wisconsin.

It is likely that both your phlox and lilacs are attacked by mildew. Mildew shows as a dirty-white powdery patch on the foliage. It usually appears when there is excessive humidity, high night temperatures and poor air drainage. Each fall remove the dead tops and rake up or turn under all fallen leaves. During the summer spray the phlox and lilac plants with a fungicide. Fermate or Captan may be used to prevent the introduction and spread of mildew. It should be used regularly from July until fall and the instructions furnished with the spray material should be followed.

How can I propagate croton plants? Are they suitable to use as house plants? Mrs. E.S., Texas.

Croton plants may be propagated by taking cuttings of well ripened wood almost any time of the year. Preferably the cuttings are made during winter months and are grown with bottom heat and a room temperature of 80° or more. The cutting box should be covered with plastic or glass to keep the humidity high. Dipping the end of the cutting in a rooting hormone will help. The croton plant is not recommended as a house plant. Temperature, heat, light and humidity are usually too low indoors.

What care should be given a large yucca plant? Should stems be cut off? Will plants continue blooming? Should plant be divided each year? Miss H.C., Pa.

The yuccas should be treated about like a cactus, and in fact need little care. The flowering stem may be removed to improve its appearance, otherwise, it makes no difference. The plants continue to bloom year after year and need no dividing except as there is need for additional plants. Offsets may be removed and transplanted in early spring. They may be grown from seed but the seed is slow and unreliable in germinating.

We planted a red maple tree in May and it did very well for about a month. It seems to be at a standstill now and the leaves are drying up. What can we do? Mrs. E.E.C., Virginia.

Digging and transplanting the red maple tree removed a good part of its root system and probably damaged some of the remaining roots. When growth started, the leaves unfolded and grew, using the food stored in the dormant tree. Soon, however, the need of the leaves for food and water far exceeded the capacity of the small root system. At the time a tree is planted it is important that the top be cut back enough to balance the loss of roots, so the top growth can be supplied with moisture by the few feeder roots present. It is late to do much about it now. Careful watering and a light feed may help your tree to become re-established.

I have several camellias that appear healthy, however, the branches keep drying. What will help these plants? Mrs. M.T., Virginia.

The addition of fertilizers in late summer often induces a second and soft growth of the camellias. This soft growth is easily injured while dormant and the damage is evident when growth starts in the spring. Some varieties are naturally more subject to cold damage than others. Also dry atmosphere conditions and excessive sunlight may cause drying of the branches. Avoid feeding the plants after July and keep the humidity as high as possible during mid-summer.

Gardening questions are answered each month by C. L. Quear, one of the nation's leading gardening experts. Send questions on a post card — do not send samples of plants or leaves. Mr. Quear will answer questions only through the pages of The WORKBASKET; no questions will be answered through the mail. I have a begonia planted in good soil, the leaves develop dry edges and stem tips dry up before all the buds have bloomed. What is the trouble? Mrs. F.P., North Dakota.

Possibly the trouble with your begonia is unfavorable environment but it may be the plant is infested with cyclamen mites. Examine the plant with a high powered reading glass. Tear open a bud and examine the inside. If you find a small, light brown insect present, it is a mite. Where mites are present, the flower buds fail to open or become twisted and the young leaves are distorted and brown. They are difficult to eliminate. A regular spraying with Kelthane using 1 teaspoonful per gallon of water is one of the most effective spray controls.

Please tell me how to grow the passion flower. J.B., Illinois

The easiest kind of passion flower to grow is Passiflora caerulea. It may be grown from seed which germinates in about four weeks. The hybrid alato-caerulea has larger flowers which appear in late spring. It may be propagated by taking cuttings of young wood in summer and rooting them in sand or Terralite. Grow it in a rich soil sandy enough to drain quickly. Water it often and feed regularly and give it lots of sun and warmth during the summer. From fall to March, run it cool, 55°, and rather dry. The vine grows rapidly and a support will be needed to provide a place for the tendrils to climb. A 6 or 8-inch pot will be needed to furnish root room for so vigorous a plant. It is herbaceous in cold climate and if grown outdoors should have a mulch for winter protection. In the spring new vines will start at ground level.

from seeds and plants

High on the list of favorite perennials is the daylily (Hemerocallis). This is an ideal garden flower and so easily grown that beginners can have wonderful results with their very first attempts. One phenomenal trait is their ability to bloom beautifully with the least amount of care as compared to other flowers. This flower lends itself gracefully to landscaping from tiny rock gardens to formal breath-taking displays.

Growing Daylilies From Seed—

In southern states and warm regions, daylilies can be planted as soon as ready and remain outside during winter or may be grown in cold frames. For localities of cold, lengthy winters, daylily seeds should be started in seed boxes of soil indoors during the early part of the year, preferably January or February. Use a light soil that will hold moisture — any good garden soil plus peat moss is fine. If soil is too heavy, sand may be added. Fertilizer should not be added to seeding mixture. Placing seeds in 3 inches of soil or deeper in a shallow box is ideal.

Seeds should be planted in rows 2 inches apart; space seeds approximately 1-inch apart in rows; cover with ¼-inch layer of soil. Do not plant too shallow. For germination, water seed flats well and cover with glass and keep in a warm place at room temperature. Water every few days if necessary—do not allow flats to dry out completely. In two to four weeks germination will occur. When first shoots appear, place in light and remove cover. Soil should remain moist. There will be rapid growth of the seedlings during this period, water them and give them plenty of sunlight and air circulation but do not keep soaking wet. When three or four weeks old, a weak solution of liquid fertilizer may be given; repeat this feeding every two or three weeks. In late April or early May, these will be husky little plants with some leaves and heights of 6 to 8 inches, ready for transplanting.

HYPERION—This famous, most artistically modeled daylily is always in great demand. Its gigantic flowers are wide, pale lemon-yellow. Given an award of merit by the Royal Horticutural Society of England.

Transplant to garden in a well worked soil to which humus or compost has been added (do not use fresh manure or a harsh chemical fertilizer). The seedlings should be transplanted in rows 12 inches apart with plants 8 inches apart. With a fine spray, water until soil is saturated.

After growth begins in the garden, daylilies demand very little attention. Keep weeded and once a month, apply liquid fertilizer. Spring-set plants like these do not need winter protection and should flower well during second summer.

Growing Daylilies From Plants—

If you order plants from one of the many fine Daylily gardens in our country, there are important procedures in planting and treatment to be noted. Upon arrival of plants, if they are to be planted immediately, unwrap, remove packing material from roots, wash and let stand in water for an hour—then set out. However, daylilies will stay fresh for several days if you do not have time to plant them the day of arrival. Simply place in water over the roots and keep in a cool, shady spot out-of-doors.

Late blooming daylilies should be planted in spring and early blooming plants in summer or late fall. Plant evergreen varieties in spring. Many varieties can be planted at anytime, provided you get them in the ground a month or six weeks before the severest freeze.

They can be planted practically anywhere—in sun or shade, acid or lime soil, wet or dry soil and these hardy plants survive! (For extraordinary blooms use a friable garden soil made mellow with compost or well rotted manure). Most daylily fanciers agree that it is best not to plant them where they will compete with tree roots—they will grow near and under trees but much more food and water is required than in other sites where they are not competing with tree roots.

In planting, spread out roots, cover them with 1-inch or so of soil and water. Space about 18 inches to 3 feet apart. During flowering season daylilies like moisture, but not soggy soil.

Daylilies

PICTURE—Here is a charming 6-inch bloom of lively bright rose that is sunproof and good long after dark. A stunning favorite!

Diseases and Pests—

No serious disease has been known to touch these striking plants. And few pests annoy them. However, thrips may appear on the new spring growth. If leaves fall off or stunting is noticed, spray with an insecticide containing 5% DDT — spraying down into growing crown of plant. It is best to spray entire planting if thrip injury is found on several plants.

The modern daylily is available in every conceivable color or color combination except blue and white. Excellent reds range from very dark Black Cherry and Persian Princess to Tejax, very bright. New colors are being introduced each year by the American hybridizers who also are responsible for better formed flowers, increased lasting qualities, superior stem branching and improved late, ever-bearing plants. Be sure to include several varieties of Hemerocallis when planning your garden!

Cool Delights for Midsummer

4816—Start the day in fine fashion in this pretty casual. Note neatly detailed bodice, graceful 8-gore skirt. Cut it in a jiffy with our easy instructions to guide you. Half sizes 14½-24½. Sizes 16½ takes 4¼ yards 35-inch fabric.

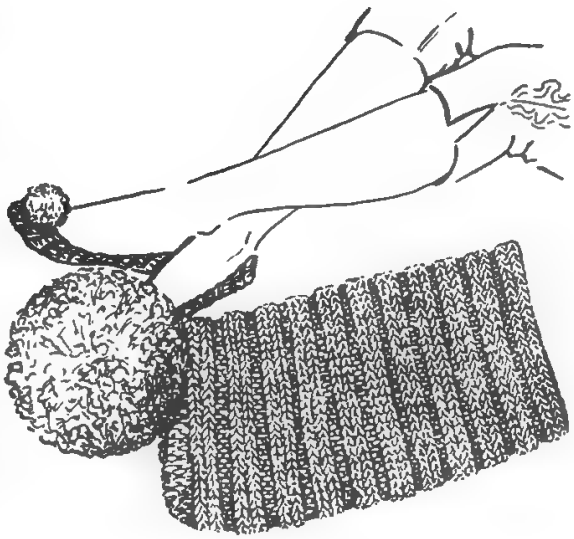
Slippers For All Your Friends



THESE GAY little slippers may solve many Christmas shopping problems. Children love them; teenagers think they're "crazy"; and older folks like them to keep their toes warm.

There's no need to worry about sizes either. One size fits all feet.

To make them you will need two ounces of multicolor 4-ply yarn, a pair of number 5 knitting needles, and a large darning needle.

Cast on 48 stitches. Work in ribbing of knit 2, purl 2 until piece measures 7 inches. Bind off. Fold in half across the ribbing, and sew the two ends together. Of course, if you do want an extra large slipper you may add 4, 6 or 8 stitches to the number cast on. Make the second slipper in the same way.

Add pompons and they're ready to wear.

Pompon: Wind 20 strands of yarn over a 3-inch cardboard, tie around center, cut ends and trim into a ball. Make 2.

Filet Scallop Edge

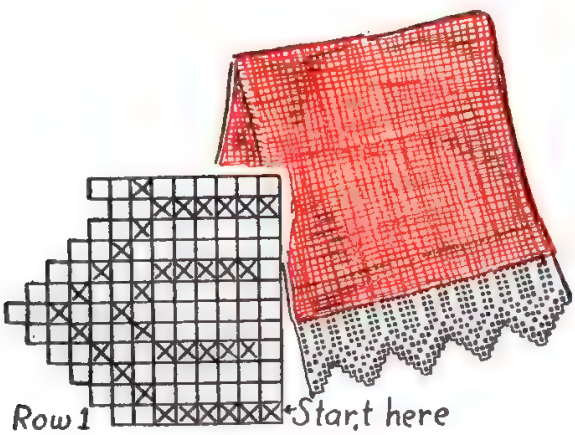
ALTHOUGH THE ORIGINAL edging was used for trimming a guest towel it would be just as lovely for a pillow slip edge. You will need one skein of Daisy Mercerized Crochet Cotton, size 50, and a size 13 steel crochet hook. The completed edging is approximately 2 inches wide.

Abbreviations:

ch (chain)	sp (space)
dc (double crochet)	sl st (slip stitch)
bl (block)	sk (skip)

Start at row indicated on chart, ch 26.

Row 1: Sk last 3 ch sts, dc in each of next 17 sts, (ch 2, sk 2 ch sts, dc in next st) twice, ch 8, turn.



Row 2: Following chart, dc in first dc, ch 2, (dc in next dc, 2 dc in next sp, dc in next dc) a bl made, (ch 2, sk 2 dc, dc in next dc) 6 times to form 6 sps. Ch 5, turn.

Row 3 and all remaining rows: Following chart, make the number of sps and bls indicated. When the decrease rows of scallop are worked, after completing last dc of row, turn and sl st in each st across to next dc, ch 3 and continue as before.

Make edging the length desired. Fasten off and sew to towel edge.

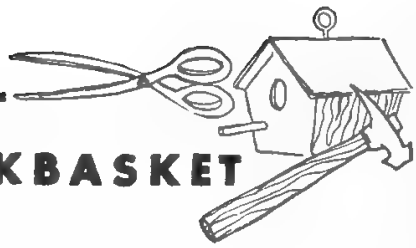
Junior WORKBASKET



Summer is always a busy time with gardens, vacations and all, yet it seems we can always find a little time for some quiet work.

If you happen to be planning a party, you might be interested in something a bit different for nut cups, like the little sprinkling cans I am going to tell you about. You begin with a cardboard tube, like the kind wax paper is rolled on. Cut this tube into sections about 1½ inches. Cover each section with colorful construction paper. For the bottom, cut a circle, somewhat larger than this ring. Cut slits all the way around the circle as shown, then fold them up, and apply paste to these tabs. Insert this into one end of the ring to form the bottom of the nut cup. Cut a narrow strip of paper and paste the ends together forming a ring. This will be the handle, so paste it in place. To the opposite side paste the "sprinkler" which is a piece of paper cut as shown. Decorate the sprinkling cans with cutouts or pretty stickers. Wouldn't your party table be gay if you could put a different colored nut cup at each place?

Doll Bootees

ESPECIALLY MADE for the young Miss who wants her doll dressed like a real baby. These little bootees will fit an 18-inch doll and can be stretched to fit a slightly larger one. You will need a small amount of baby yarn and number 2 aluminum sock needles.

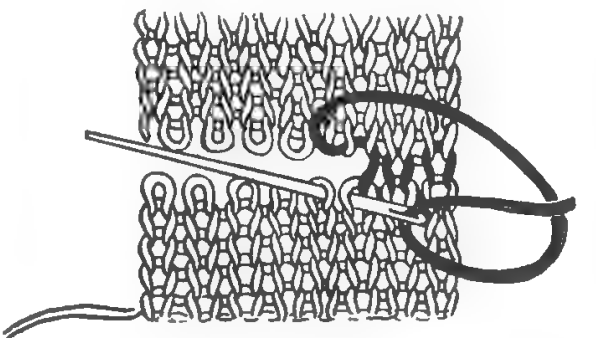
Abbreviations:

k (knit)	st (stitch)
p (purl)	tog (together)
O (yarn over)

Cast on 25 sts. Work in garter st (k each row) for 8 rows. Then p one row. * K 2, O, k 2 tog, repeat from * across, end with k 1. This forms the beading for ribbon. P next row.

K 9 sts. With a third needle, k next 7 sts, turn. Work in garter st until there are 3 ridges on these 7 sts. P next row. Cut thread. This forms toe of bootee. Leave sts on needle.

K first 9 sts, pick up 5 sts along side of toe, k 7 sts across toe, pick up 5 sts along opposite side of toe, k remaining 9 sts. There will be 35 sts on needle. Work in garter st until there are three ridges, but at the beginning of second ridge, divide sts evenly on two needles. You are now ready to work decreases by making k 2 tog at beginning and end of each needle, every other row.



Grafting Stockinette Stitch

When all three ridges are completed, p 1 row. K each st on first needle, then fold bootee and weave sts from needles. Sew up the back seam. Weave ribbon through beading and tie at front.

Weave sts together in stockinette stitch as shown in sketch.
